life as a Christian believer for the better. His writing has challenged my traditional views and kept questioning my way of thinking and acting. While reading, I had to ask myself over and over: What influences my opinion and decision-making, when it comes to faith in Jesus Christ? Is it shaped and molded rather by my denominational upbringing or is it a result of prayer and my incremental understanding of Gods Word? You can see a lot of young people these days wearing wristbands lettered W.W.J.D., meaning What would Jesus do? It is certainly a good way to question your words and deeds in a particular situation, but to me the more important question is What did Jesus do?, because He shall be my role model. How did Jesus interact with people? What can I learn from His encounters? What lessons does Jesus life on earth hold for me? What would He want me to know? Alan Drake is a gifted author, and I found his style of writing very appealing; it was easy for me to follow his line of thought and conclusions. Alans profession as a teacher and his years of experience in conveying content and ideas to other people certainly helps him express his trains of thought in words and phrases that are easy for everybody to understand. I would highly recommend this book to individual believers and as a stimulus for discussions among church elders, in missionary organizations, in preparation for outreach events, or within Bible study groups.

Kurzbeschreibung An inspiring and encouraging guide designed to break through mental objections and empower readers to realize that God desires to accomplish great things through them, this book offers practical guidance, based upon Scriptural principles, to help readers begin to experience the reality of the promise that Jesus made when he said: Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these he will do, because I go to My Father. John 14:12 (NKJV) The promise contained in this Bible verse is the foundation upon which this book series is based. Going against the grain of traditional Christian ministry and evangelism that is based on preaching, the author advocates an approach that focuses on meeting the needs of people; thus fulfilling Christs command to love one another, as He has loved us (John 15:12). Challenging the traditional approaches, the author also boldly asserts that this is the way Jesus did ministry, and that what Jesus did, we can do also! This book takes the focus of Christian ministry and turns it 180 degrees, insisting that the most significant ministry events in our lives, as in Jesus, will not be experienced in church meetings but will be found outside of traditional church meetings, as we learn to focus our attention on the encounters that we have with people every day. This book offers practical steps to help prepare Christian believers to do the works of Jesus on a daily basis. Readers will be challenged to move now into lives of fulfilling and empowering ministry that they may have always desired, but never thought possible; offering practical guidance to get them started.
