Ruby is bossy and Garnet likes reading. They go through everything together. They lived with their Dad and Gran because their Mum had died.But when their Dad met a woman called Rose, their lives changed. Their gran moved into a flat. Their Dad announced that he had bought a bookshop, and so they moved house. They hated their new schools and Rose, so they wrote a letter to a boarding school to get in. Garnet thought she wouldn't get in, but she did and Ruby didn't, so they broke up. Ruby cut her hair to look different, but at the end they were friends.0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. KurzbeschreibungRuby and Garnet are ten-year-old twins. They're identical, and they do EVERYTHING together, especially since their mother died three years earlier - but they couldn't be more different. Bossy, bouncy, funny Ruby loves to take charge, and is desperate to be a famous actress, while quiet, sensitive, academic Garnet loves nothing more than to curl up with one of her favourite books. And when everything around the twins is changing so much, can being a double act work for ever?.deEve Karpf reads Jacqueline Wilson's Double Act in this unabridged three-cassette audio book. Identical twins Ruby and Garnet are inseparable. They do everything together and go everywhere together. They love being twins, and since the death of their mother they have been closer than ever, safe in their little world. But when Dad finds a new girlfriend everything in the twins' lives is turned upside down--new home, new school, new everything. And gradually, being twins isn't quite the same anymore. In Double Act, Wilson brilliantly captures the pain and uncertainty that change can bring. This story of two little girls gradually realising that they have no control over what is happening is both funny and poignant. Wilson shines as the twins begin to accept that things will never be quite the same, allowing her characters to grow and develop as individuals without ever losing sight of the bond that holds them together. Running time is three hours and 40 minutes. --Susan Harrison.co.ukEve Karpf reads Jacqueline Wilson's Double Act in this unabridged three-cassette audio book.
